2. Political and Humanitarian Repercussions:

The blockade preventing the entry of aid and medical supplies into the Gaza Strip continues, endangering the lives of thousands of children, patients, and civilians, and leaving them facing an uncertain fate. Hundreds of thousands of tons of aid and medical supplies are stockpiled at Gaza Strip crossings but are not being allowed to enter.

Politically, the Israeli army has escalated its forced displacement operations in Gaza City and its northern areas, leading to another massive wave of displacement due to military attacks and severe raids as part of genocide. Tens of thousands of Gazans have been displaced from various areas of the city.

Moreover, the Israeli military's crimes extend beyond forced displacement to targeting shelter centers for the displaced. Numerous massacres have been committed against these centers, especially in Khan Yunis in the southern Gaza Strip. One such atrocity occurred at a school in Abasan, east of Khan Yunis, where an airstrike killed 29 people, the majority of whom were children and women.
